

Entrepreneur School

True success is having ones passion as a profession. When you can transform the things you love to do into products and services for others, you can spend your life doing exactly what you want to do.

If you don't have clear goals, you will spend your life fulfilling the goals of other people, while they profit from your intelligence. Many people dream of the freedom that comes from owning their own business, but very few ever discover their calling or master the fundamental skills that guarantee success.

Earning your living should be fun. Free agent entrepreneurs start up their businesses without capital by investing spare time to conduct brief, simple projects with other exciting people who share their passion. Those delightful projects are the seeds that grow into a mighty harvest. While employees fight to survive, free agent entrepreneurs play with other bright, curious people to generate cash flow by doing what they enjoy.

Entrepreneurship isn't a get-rich-quick scheme, nor is it a wishful thinking scenario or blind faith formula. People who grow their own businesses start out with fun, easy 'hobby' projects to create income streams, and then reinvest some of the money in new projects to achieve a flow of currency.

Capitalist entrepreneurs write complicated business plans, and then fail with nine out of ten of their ventures. Free agent entrepreneurs start small, avoid risks, and grow reliable businesses by doing what they enjoy with their clients.

When you focus on what you love to do, collaborate with people who really like you, and allow each project to earn its own money, you can blend several exciting events into a reliable venture. Your business grows organically as naturally as children learn to walk—one step at a time.

Success in business requires 80% people skills and 20% people skills. The 6-Day Entrepreneur School employs a unique 'theater of business' process to make sure you have everything you need to organize your time and win people to your venture.

Traditional business schools and universities do an adequate job of teaching business theory. You learn what you should do, but no one shows you how. Our instructors are professional entrepreneurs and business coaches who inspire by example. You will master the skills that turn your dreams into reality.

Earning Your Living By Living Your Dream

A great career brings you pleasure while you earn your income. Your true calling challenges your limitations and awakens hidden talents. How you spend your time determines whether you live a mundane existence or discover a profoundly meaningful life. Doing what you love for a living increases your aliveness throughout the course of the day and earns enthusiastic participation from your colleagues and clients.

You Are Invited to Change Your Life

There is only one you. The stages of business are universal, but each person must discover his or her unique style and approach. Direct feedback, resonating on many levels, will enable you to:

- ✚ Read people and bring out their hidden gifts and talents.
- ✚ Awaken a whole new dimension of joy and fulfillment.
- ✚ Stimulate deep curiosity as to one's possibilities.
- ✚ Open gates that were closed and release the vital force that leads to your success.
- ✚ Grow your belief in people and confidence in your own abilities.
- ✚ Discover a better sense of who you are and what you can achieve.
- ✚ Develop a working hypothesis for a new life.
- ✚ Make exciting new friends who will want to participate in your success.
- ✚ Find the courage to begin living your dream by working together with like-minded individuals whose success is linked to your own.

Sage University created the 6-Day Entrepreneur School to help people transition from the job economy to the entrepreneurial service economy. If you are ready to begin the process of earning your living by living your dream, please join us for the adventure of a lifetime.
