

On Writing Well

Publishing your own book lifts you out of your ordinary life and places you among the most accomplished people. Writers enjoy influence and acclaim. People respect you when you show the discipline to produce a meaningful work.

Writing a book allows people to see you in a whole new light. You stand out from the crowd. When you write you gain fans and you create opponents. Some people agree with you and others disagree, because the significance of your words increases dramatically.

Before publication you can earn a decent living. After the book release you can achieve greater success than you ever dreamed possible.

We can teach you a lot about writing and about getting people to buy your book. On Writing Well is a 4-day foray into the pleasure of writing.

It is a communication course for people that want to reach a wider audience and conduct a thoughtful dialogue with the public through the printed word.

Dozens of Sage University graduates have written successful books that became the cornerstone of their careers. If you have the courage to start and the discipline to persevere, we can help you write much better than you do now. We can also help you build a team of assistants, fans, editors, ghostwriters, and critics that will give you the energy and inspiration you need to complete your writing projects.

Writing a good book can increase your visibility and your income. So book your flight right now. And then plan to stay a few extra days so that you can practice your newly improved skills. If you are sure that writing is your path, we will see you on Ibiza in August for some of the best days of your life.
